

Hedgehog

Erinaceus europaeus

small, rounded body
covered with short
spines

small eyes

pointed face

lighter and furry
underneath

Hedgehog

Erinaceus europaeus

small, rounded body
covered with short
spines

small eyes

pointed face

lighter and furry
underneath

©Sheri Amsel

Adaptations of the Hedgehog

When a hedgehog is startled, a strong muscle in its back pulls it into a ball, protecting its soft underbelly and pointing its sharp spines up straight.

