Matching Animal Parts

This activity is for preschool and early readers. Using familiar animals, students match the head, neck, body and tail with the right animal. This helps students recognize patterns, match edges and make complete pictures. This is meant to improve motor skills and pattern comprehension while enjoying the sense of puzzle completion and animal recognition.

Laminate the animal sheets and cut out the four body part of the 5 animals. Mix them all up in a pile. Have the student build and name the 5 animals. Once they are done, pull out the full animal square to help students see the spelling of the animal names.
